J.W. SMITH SHOT
WIFE'S PARTNER,
THEN KILLS SELFTragedy Occurred in a Rooming House in Chicago Last Eve.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill., July 18.—J. W. Smith, who last night shot and killed Harry Springmeyer, 35 years old, in a north side rooming house, was found dead in a vacant house several miles from the scene of the tragedy, early today. The police believe he committed suicide. There was a bullet wound in his head and a revolver was found near the body.

Springmeyer and Mrs. Smith, wife of the slayer, had been conducting the rooming house where the tragedy occurred. The two men first met five years ago and Springmeyer went to live at the Smith home. Smith, it is said, became jealous of Springmeyer and left his wife. Later Springmeyer and Mrs. Smith became business partners in a rooming house. Last night Smith met the couple on the street and followed them home where he shot and killed Springmeyer and fled. Smith was employed by a shoe manufacturer and at one time lived in Dixon, Ill., and Milwaukee. The police of these cities were asked by the Chicago authorities to search for Smith after the murder last night.

It was learned today that the local officers had been asked to search here from Smith, who because he had formerly lived here, during which time he was employed at the old Watson-Plummer Shoe factory, might return here to seek refuge with former friends and resume employment in the Brown Shoe Co. factory.

Under questioning from Telegraph representatives Chief Van Bibber admitted he had received a message from Chicago concerning Smith, but refused further information. It was learned from other sources that the officers had made plans for prompt information being given them should the murderer arrive in the city.

Smith worked at the factory here many years ago, leaving here for Milwaukee long before the Brown Co. took over the local plant, but he is remembered by many of the older shoe makers.

HALF A HUNDRED

AMERICAN LEGIONMany Want to Get on Charter List of Dixon Post.

The meeting of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion, held at the city hall last evening was so well attended by returned soldiers who had not affiliated with the organization but who wished to do so, that little else aside from receiving applications for membership could be accomplished. Over half a hundred applications for enrollment on the charter membership of the Post were received, and another meeting will be announced soon to complete such business as is imperative and to receive further applications. It is announced that all who join before Nov. 11, the date the national meeting will convene at St. Paul, will be come charter member of the Dixon Post.

The local post plans the establishment within a short time of a Bureau for the aid of members, which will undoubtedly prove very popular with all who have matters to be straightened out with the government. The Bureau, detailed announcement of which will be made later, will attend to all claims against government, allotments, bonuses, etc., which are placed in its hands, taking each question up with the proper department and pushing it until all differences are settled.

Arrangements have also been started to secure for all members the campaign badges which the government has authorized. These badges are for all who served during the two years; men who were in major offensives having a bronze star on their badges, and those who were in minor offensives having silver stars.

JOHNSON THREATENS
LIVES OF PRISONERS
IN LEE CO. BASTILEOfficials Believe Negro
Is Again Feigning
Insanity.

R. E. Johnson, the negro who is awaiting the final decision of the state board of pardons on his petition for commutation of sentence of death to life imprisonment, created a panic among the prisoners at the county jail late Wednesday afternoon. The attention of the jail attaches was called by the loud cries of prisoners and the rattling of the cell doors. When they were questioned they reported that Johnson had threatened to kill all of them.

Milo June, awaiting the action of the September grand jury on a charge of stealing a Ford automobile, made a report of the affair to Turnkey Joe Miller. He informed this official that Johnson had been acting queerly, and had scared all of the prisoners when he threatened to kill them. When the turnkey went into the cell room to investigate and question Johnson, all that the colored prisoner would say was, "they're after me," and "don't let them get me."

His fellow prisoners have expressed their belief that he is only pretending insanity and they have reported various incidents which cause the officers to believe that such is the case. Since he was sentenced to hang for the murder of George Bush at Nelson on the night of December 6, Johnson has repeatedly requested medical attention. In each instance, a physician has been summoned at his request, but the authorities have learned from other prisoners that Johnson does not take the medicine which is prescribed and left for him, but throws it away.

According to the jail attaches when summoned to the door of the cell room to have his mail delivered, Johnson is unchanged mentally, apparently, but appears to be making a strong effort to make it appear that his mind has become affected.

75 Percent of Men
in Army Have Not Renewed Insurance

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, July 18.—Approximately three-fourths of the four million officers and enlisted men in the military forces, who secured government insurance policies through the war risk insurance bureau during the war, have failed to continue their payments, it was disclosed during the meetings of the bureau's advisory committee of thirteen, headed by Charles Evans Hughes, which closed last night.

Failure of many policy holders to continue payments and convert their term policies was attributed largely to the fact that the bureau is unable to communicate with them as 30 per cent of the addresses of discharged service men are incorrect.

To insure constant personal contact with policy holders, the committee recommended that the bureau establish local representatives in each state or in such districts as it may seem advisable to divide the country.

BIG CROWD ENJOYS
LAST EVE'S CONCERT

A large crowd, the greater part of which was in automobiles, enjoyed the second concert by the Dixon Municipal band at John Dixon park last evening, and heartily applauded the numbers. No attempt was made to enlarge the concert fund last evening, and further toward raising a fund has not been determined upon. It is announced that sufficient money remains for one more concert, the date for which will be announced later.

CITY BUYS OILER
WHO'S DEPT. WILL DIRECT ITS WORKMayor and Com. Armstrong Couldn't Agree on Responsibility.

During a session which resembled those of the old aldermanic gatherings, the city council at adjourned session early this morning purchased a street oiling machine and made arrangements to continue the oiling of streets in this city; but the commissioners made no arrangements for placing that work in any one department—so it's apparently up to Mayor Smith.

After transferring $2,000 from the contingent fund to pay for the Elyne oiler, which was accepted at a cost of $750, payable on September 1, and to provide payment for two carloads of oil, the commissioners voted to reimburse that fund from the moneys to be paid in by property owners along the streets which are oiled.

Some Friction Developed.
But the accomplishment of the business outlined in the above paragraph was not without a real argument between Mayor Smith and Commissioner J. D. Armstrong of the Department of Streets and Public Improvements.

The friction developed when Commissioner Armstrong announced right out in open council meeting that he would "assume no responsibility" for street oiling. The Mayor promptly said he thought the oiling properly belonged in the street department, but he said he was not surprised at the commissioner's statement since "he had refused to sweep the streets."

To which that official replied that he was perfectly able to run his own department, he didn't interfere with the workings of other commissioners' departments, that he would resent any interference in his department, and that he wasn't going to violate the law in administering the workings of his office by going into debt.

Mayor Also Responsible.
The city's executive granted all that Mr. Armstrong said, but replied that as mayor he felt he was responsible to a certain extent for the way in which all the council transacted its business.

He told Mr. Armstrong he wasn't doing his duty by refusing to sweep the dust off the streets which were about

RUSSIAN UPLIFT
FIRST DUTY OF LEAGUE NATIONSWinston Churchill is for Action There Immediately.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Thursday, July 17.—(Delayed.)—Russia at the present moment is the keynote of the future peace of the world and the relieving of that country must be the first duty of the league of nations," said Colonel Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary of state for war, in an address at the British-Russian club dinner tonight.

"If the whole of Russia and its resources fall into the hands of Lenin and Trotsky, the whole power of the bolshevik forces will be thrown against those little states which have been promised the protection of the league of nations. If the bolshevik forces prevail in Russia those little states, nay, Russia, itself, will fall into the hands of Germany," he continued.

Mr. Churchill defended the action of the allies in sending troops to Russia and if the five great powers had been able to act in concert, "things would not be as they are there." He declared that more than 300,000 bolsheviks were being held in check by the allies and "if the British government contributed in any way toward that result, I, for one, rejoice."

Mr. Churchill predicted an entire change in the situation within a fortnight but did not explain what it might be.

Count Karolyi Will Take Refuge in U. S.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berlin, Thursday, July 17.—(Delayed.)—Count Michael Karolyi, former president of the Hungarian republic, has arrived in Italy after several attempts to leave Hungary and will go to America, according to a Vienna dispatch to the Kreuz Zeitung.

Several weeks ago, it is said, Count Karolyi escaped to Austria, but he was made prisoner by the Austrians and returned to Budapest. The count, the dispatch adds, then sought and procured the assistance of the Italian military authorities who sent him in charge of a guard to Italy by way of Innsbruck. The Vienna dispatch concludes:

"He will, however, have to leave Italy for America immediately."
Bela Kun, the communist foreign minister, the dispatch says, permitted Count Karolyi to retain his available cash and securities.

CIVIL SUNDRY BILL,
VETOED BY WILSON.
PASSED BY SENATE

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, July 18.—Carrying increased appropriations for the rehabilitation and education of disabled soldiers, sailors and marines, the $613,000, 000 sundry civil appropriation bill was passed today by the senate. It now goes to the president, who vetoed the original bill because it limited funds for training wounded service men.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, July 18.—To curtail restrictions on trade with Germany while the peace treaty is being considered by the senate, Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, introduced today an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill declaring that "being declared," no part of the funds in the bill should be used to enforce the trading with the enemy act.

There was disagreement over the exact meaning of the amendment which would insert a provision "that the status of a peace between the former imperial German government and the United States of America being declared to exist" no part of the money should be used to enforce the trading act.

Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, objecting to the proposal, said it seemed to him "an effort by indirection to declare a status of peace without awaiting the usual course, ratification of the treaty."

Senator Smith, democrat, Georgia, made a point of order against the amendment and then at Senator Underwood's suggestion Senator Fall struck out of the measure all reference to a status of peace.

An amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill designed to end enforcement of the trading with the enemy act was rejected in the senate today, 33 to 27. It was offered by Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, who said there should be no restrictions on trading with Germany.

Announcement also was made that the domestic letter rate of two cents an ounce in effect when mail went directly from one country to the other would be re-established as soon as direct steamship lines had been restored.

Exchange of money orders with Germany will not be resumed pending the negotiation of a new treaty, which officials said was made necessary by the decline in value of the German mark.

FRENCH CONSIDER TREATY

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Thursday, July 17.—(Delayed.)—The committee of the chamber of deputies which is considering the treaty of peace today took up a report on German colonies. This report says that the return on Togoland and the Kamerun to France only revives the prior rights of France from a political viewpoint. It adds, however, that "a recent accord between France and Great Britain fixes the limitations and rights of each in those colonies."

Security Guaranteed

Premier Clemenceau in appearing before the committee, declared that the security of France was guaranteed by the treaty of peace and the treaties between France and the United States and France and Great Britain. M. Clemenceau reviewed the proceedings in the peace conference regarding the left bank of the Rhine, filing with the committee a series of documents on the subject. He recalled that in the opinion of Marshal Foch, the bridgeheads of the Rhine should be established and occupied permanently and said that he had been obliged to choose between the protection which France alone would have been obliged to assure and the protection afforded by the American and British treaties.

London, July 18.—London's tribute to General Pershing today takes the form of the presentation at the Guild Hall of a sword of honor. Early this month the corporation of the city of London voted to present to General Pershing and Marshal Foch the freedom of the city and swords of honor.

Monogram in Jewels

The sword of honor is gold mounted and is a handsome reproduction of the American army pattern. The hilt has the figure Britannia on one side and Liberty on the other. On the upper band is displayed the arms of the United States on one side and the arms of the city of London on the other. In the enamel below the American coat of arms is General Pershing's monogram in diamonds and rubies with the American flag and the union jack. On the reserve side enamelled ribbons display the names of the battles in which the American troops participated and of General Pershing's campaigns.

Decorations Reproduced

The decoration of a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath with which General Pershing has been presented, appears on the lower band. The rose, shamrock and thistle, symbolical of the United Kingdom, figure in the decorations. The scabbard is of leather. The hilt and hands are of 18 karat gold. The inscription on the blade reads:

"Presented by the corporation of the city of London to General John J. Pershing, G. C. B., commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces, in testimony of its high appreciation of the valuable services rendered by him and the troops under his command in the cause of freedom in the great war just concluded."

The sword was made by the Goldsmiths and Silversmiths company.

G.O.P. SENATORS
HEAR WILSON ON LEAGUE-TREATYSenators Kellogg and Kenyon Go to the White House.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C., July 18.—President Wilson still is insistent that the peace treaty and league of nations covenant be ratified without reservations. Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, said today after a conference with the president at the white house.

Senator Capper said the president took the position that adoption of reservations by the senate was certain to be misinterpreted abroad and would set a precedent which might be followed by other nations.

The president pointed out, Senator Capper said, that if all nations adopted their own reservations and placed their own interpretations on the covenant the real meaning and purpose of the league might be vitiated. The senator said the president did not present arguments, but simply stated facts, leaving him to draw his own conclusions.

Senator Capper said the Shantung settlement was discussed at length and that the president appeared to be in possession of many pertinent and important facts. The senator declined, however to say what these were.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, July 18.—President Wilson continued his conference with republican senators today, discussing the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant at length with Senators Kenyon of Iowa, and Kellogg of Minnesota. Later he had engagements with Senators Capper, of Kansas and McNary of Oregon.

Neither Senator Kenyon nor Senator Kellogg would discuss their conversations with the president, but as he went to the white house Senator Kenyon said he intended to ask about the statement of Senator Swanson, democrat, Virginia, in the senate recently that the United States could withdraw from the league whenever it desired, adding that this was a very important point which would clarify the situation.

While the president was conferring with the senators the foreign relations committee continued its sessions for the reading of the treaty text. Progress was slow. The reading may be completed by the end of the week.

MORE CONFERENCES SLATED.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, July 18.—President Wilson's program for today included resumption of the series of conferences with members of the senate which he began yesterday and at which the peace treaty and the league of nations were discussed. Four republican senators had appointments with the president today—McNary, of Oregon; Capper, Kansas; Kellogg, Minnesota; and Kenyon, Iowa. The conversations were expected to follow the lines of those yesterday when Mr. Wilson conferred separately with Senators Colt, Rhode Island; Nelson, Minnesota, and McCumber, North Dakota, all republicans.

To Call Republicans.

The conferences yesterday and those for today were the first of a long series of similar meetings Mr. Wilson is arranging with members of the opposition party in the senate and whom he proposes to take into his confidence concerning the conduct of the peace negotiations at Versailles. So far he has called in only those senators who have expressed themselves in favor of the treaty or who have not made a public declaration either for or against but later he is expected to confer with virtually every republican senator, including those who have most bitterly opposed ratification.

Little Action Today.

No prepared speeches were expected to be delivered in the senate today and it generally was believed that after a brief session, the body would adjourn until Monday. The foreign relations committee planned to continue its session by section reading of the treaty today but no action was expected to be taken on any important feature of the fight.

No word has come from the president as to his decision with regard to the recent request of the senate for what is known as the "American draft" of the league of nations covenant. Secretary Tumulty said he had not discussed the matter with Mr. Wilson and those who saw the president yesterday declared the subject had not been mentioned during their conversations.

CEMENT NOW BEING POURED ON HIGHWAY WORK WEST OF ASHTON

Work is Being Inspected
for State By C. H.
Russell, Dixon.

The work of laying cement on the Lincoln Highway west of Ashton has been started and during the past few days good progress has been made with the work and having the greater part of the summer ahead of them the contractors will reach Franklin Grove early in the fall unless some unforeseen difficulty arises.

Charles R. Russell of this city is the state inspector, and he is on the work every day making sure that all specifications are being followed.

At present the contractor is short about twenty men to keep them running full capacity. They are able to build about 250 feet of road a day but they have a machine capable of mixing enough concrete to build 400 feet.

The contractor is using one of the latest models of steam mixers it being a new one brought especially here for this contract. A mechanical tamper is expected very shortly which will be a great improvement and save much labor. At present the tamping is being done by hand. The forms for the concrete are steel instead of plank, and the road is being built as straight as a railroad track.

One new feature on this contract not seen elsewhere will be long curves at the turns. The road has been graded similar to a race course the outer edge of the road being raised to such a height that will permit cars to turn the corners without skidding speed.

Water for the concrete mixer is being pumped from a well opposite Byron Breuninger's residence. As they progress each day a few lengths of pipe are taken off.

Each morning after the cement has been laid the top is covered to a thickness of several inches with black dirt, and this is kept moist each morning for a period of twenty days, the inspector stating that this process was to keep the cement from cracking. The road cannot be used until ten days after the dirt has been removed. The men are anxious to reach the Hamlet corner and turn south so that they can throw the east and west road open for traffic.

ASHTON CONTRACTS FOR ELECTRIC LIGHTS

At a meeting of the Ashton council this week the members took up the question of lighting the streets with electricity, and a representative of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company was present at the request of the council to give them the necessary information.

The cost of one lamp per year, if 50 were installed, would be $20.37 per year if equipped with 100 candle power nitrogen lamps. For service from dusk to dawn the charge was $27.07 per lamp per year. The city has 48 street lamps of the gas type.

The council finally decided to enter into contract with the Utilities Co., for a period of ten years for 50 lamps of the 100 candle power, 44 of which shall burn from dusk until midnight and six of which in the main part of town shall burn all night. This service would cost Ashton a few cents less than $90 per month, and the lamps would be lighted every night.

Will Review Court Martial of Officer Who Assaulted Men

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Washington, D. C., July 18.—Army officers composing the court martial that tried Lieutenant "Hardboiled" Smith and Lieutenant Mason, formerly in charge of American military prisoners in France, where soldiers are alleged to have been beaten mercilessly, will be called before a special house investigation committee within a few days to explain the sentences they imposed, according to Representative Dalling, republican, Massachusetts.

Other witnesses to be called at that time, Mr. Dalling declared in a prepared statement, "will testify that the trial of these two men was a joke." Both Smith and Mason were given only sentences of dishonorable discharge, the statement asserted, despite testimony of their brutality.

"Hardboiled" Smith arrived at Fort Jay, N. Y., the other day," Dalling declared, "and was almost at once seen by some of his victims there several sentences. He was recognized by them and before the guards arrived he was beaten to a pulp and I believe he is now in the hospital recovering from a punishment meted out to him by those very men whom he had himself tortured."

Prohibition Chances Are Poor in England

By Associated Press Licensed Wire
Newcastle, Eng., Thursday, July 17.—(Delayed.)—In his presidential address at the Wesleyan Methodist conference today Rev. William Theodore Aquila, Barber discussing the possibility of prohibition in Great Britain said:

"I think our chance of prohibition would have been good if at the beginning of the war we had made a strong effort to obtain it. We have seen the magnificent results of the operation of the liquor control board, but our chance has been lost and I fear it won't return. Speaking of prohibition in America he declared that England must do the same if she is to maintain her commercial position in the world.

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

By JANE PHELPS.

EVERETT AND SANDRA GO SHOPPING

CHAPTER XXIII

As I leaned back in the luxurious town car Everett had given me for my very own I muttered:

"What do I care whether he is pleased or not? Yet I knew I did care, and the fact that a moment after I had made that hasty exclamation, I was carefully examining my face with a hand mirror to see if I really did look well, proved that I did."

Inconsistent, yes. But was ever seventeen inconsistent?

Everett was waiting for me, altho I was exactly on time. He complimented me saying:

"Many women think ten or fifteen minutes one way or another makes no difference. But a man likes promptness. I am glad you have that virtue among your other ones." It wasn't a very intimate speech; but I was glad he was pleased with me. He then asked that they show me the coat.

The coat was perfectly lovely! A sapphire blue velvet with a sable collar. It was awfully becoming. But I winced when he said:

"I knew it would be! Sapphire is always becoming to people with your colored hair."

Had Leola worn Sapphire velvet too? I gasped when I knew the cost, but Everett never said a word. Just said to send it as soon as possible. A slight change was necessary in the collar or we might have taken it.

"You were very lovely in it, Sandra," he said when we left the store. Now go and buy yourself some books and magazines. I should like to go with you, but haven't the time."

As he turned away after assisting me into the car, my eyes filled. I couldn't have told just why, but something in his voice, his eyes as he told me I was lovely in the coat, made me think he was sorry for me, and so made me sorry for myself. But I brushed them quickly away and spent an hour selecting reading matter. I wished I knew the kind of books he liked. I must ask, then I could occasionally buy him one.

When he came home to dinner I was curled up on the rug in front of the fireplace reading.

"Purring just like a kitten," he said as he kissed me and helped me to my feet. He looked at the book I was reading, then at the others I had bought, and selecting one said he would take possession of it, as he had wanted to read it ever since he had read the reviews. I was pleased out of all proportion to the incident. But that he would read anything I had selected, made me think I was not so hopelessly childish as he usually made me feel. I did so want him to treat me like a grown up.

He took me to the theater that night, and never said a cross or impatient word. "Perhaps he does love me a little," I said to myself, "and so is sorry for me."

Had I known that even then Everett was discovering that I was not as young as he had thought—not a child, but a grown girl, almost a woman. Then he also thought me very lovely, with the promise of greater beauty when more mature, it would have comforted me immensely. I did realize that he was rather proud of me. He couldn't hide that. But I laid it all to his taste in dressing me, for that was what he did. Altho he never objected when I wore one of my simple trousseau dresses in the house, he did object once when I wore one when going to the theater with him.

"They were all right for Lakeville, and aer perfectly appropriate for home wear. But I can afford handsome clothes for you. Why shouldn't you have them?"

I didn't say anything, but I too thought, why not? It was all I did have—what his money bought me. That other women, Leola, had his love. So I soon developed extravagant tastes. It does not take a woman long when she is given carte blanche to learn the gentle art of spending money. At least I never have met a woman who wasted much time over that particular lesson.

So often when lonely and unhappy because of the thought of Leola I would spend my time in shopping. It made me forget her, aside from the pleasure it gave me. Yet no saleswoman ever recommended a hat, a dress or anything else with the remark that it would be becoming because of my hair, that I did not at once lose all interest in the article I had intended to purchase, and leave the shop empty handed.

Often and often I wished that Everett had not said that he was attracted to me because I had hair like Leola; the woman who had drowned herself rather than have him disgrace her before the world. The woman I was sure he still loved. Had he not said that I think I could perhaps soon have forgotten and forgiven all the rest; but that rankled and hurt. As time went on I became more and more in love with my husband, the hurt was sometimes almost more than I could bear.

Tomorrow—Sandra is Received by Everett's Friends.

TEMPERATE GENERATIONS

Those who are most concerned in this prohibitionist revolution are saying least about it. They are the children.

It is much, of course, to take temptation out of the way of men and women who have developed a weakness for the strong drink. It is much to stop the backward lapse toward brutishness which comes with the alcoholic loosening of self-restraint in weak minds. It is much to get rid of the drag on mental and physical efficiency which science and common sense alike pronounce the inevitable result of habitual indulgence in alcohol. It is much to rid society of the sickness, crime and poverty resulting from the traffic that is now outlawed.

But these are, in a way, negative things. They are merely corrective.
They eliminate existing evils, straighten out many crooked lives, make many homes more prosperous and happy, make the community's burdens a little easier; but that is only a belated undoing of what never ought to have been done in the first place. And in only too many thousand cases the evil can not be undone. Mind or body or character is too far gone.

The big thing in to make it possible for a new generation to grow up clean, without possessing these taints and weakness, and even without knowledge of them.

Better far than changing a bad habit is never to form the habit. The chief reason why men have drunk intoxicants has been that the drinking places and the drinks were right at hand, inviting them. It was accessibility rather than any essential call of the blood, or any pull of the poison itself—that came afterward, artificially developed. It has been proved countless times in the growth of American temperance that where no alcoholic beverages are offered to boys and girls, it never occurs to them to want the stuff. Not only do they form no alcoholic habits; they hardly even think of alcohol.

It is this new generation and succeeding generations that are the real beneficiaries of this new regime. They will be cleaner, finer, stronger and better.

THE WHIPPING BOY

Offer of Von Bethmann-Hollweg, former chancellor of Germany, to stand as sacred goat for the former Kaiser, represents the archaic German trend of thought, in addition to being a trick to pay two debts with one coin.

He says in his request: "As former German chancellor I bear for my period of office sole responsibility as regulated in the German constitution for the political acts of the emperor." The ancient office of "whipping boy" brought down to modern times!

Back in the old days it was the fashion to have some young commoner about, whose duty it was to take the whippings which by right of desert should have fallen on the back of young royalty. It was a convenient way of saving the august person from well deserved punishment, while paying some attention to the fact that wrong had been done.

Of course it fostered meanness in kings and servility in commoners, and in this respect Bethmann-Hollweg and his master are no exception to the ancient rule. There is this difference, however—the whipping boy in this modern case is as guilty as his king. He it was who coined the phrase, "a scrap of paper."

Bethmann-Hollweg should be brought to justice on his own account. There is reason enough for it. But the Kaiser, too, should pay, or one of the greatest evils of autocracy will survive in spite of all the blood that has been shed to cure it.

Every one of those leaders, from the Kaiser down, who turned deaf ears to the protests of Belgium, to the heartbroken cries of the mothers of Lille, to the gasps of drowning sailors and little children, to the horrified remonstrances of the whole civilized world, must themselves find deaf ears turned to any pleas for clemency or alteration of the terms.

FRANCE SETTING THE WORLD AN EXAMPLE

France is showing the way to the world in peace as it did in war. While a greater part of Europe is talking, fighting or rioting about it, the French people are getting down to work. The nation is already showing a wonderful power of recuperation, despite the fact that its wounds were deeper and more extensive than those of any country
save only Belgium and Serbia.

During the seven months since the ending of hostilities France has laid 609 miles of double track railroads and 709 miles of single track lines. She has also cleared and reopened to navigation more than 200 miles out of the very important 650 miles of canals that had been closed by the war. Interior transportation in France depends on the canals to a degree which it is hard for us to realize. Beyond that about 7000 miles of highway have been returned to good condition out of the 24,000 miles destroyed or damaged in the war.

In every other nation in Europe
there is a disinclination of labor to return to work; a dull, apathetic state of mind. This is not surprising and perhaps, under the circumstances, not to be too greatly criticized, but none the less dangerous to the future of Europe.
Just as she has done in the past,
France is pointing the way to a safe and wholesome future. The first thing to do is to go to work. France has already done it.

100,000 BUILDING TRADES WORKERS ARE LOCKED OUT

Contractors of Chicago Refuse to Grant Wage Boost.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Ill., July 18.—Building operations in Chicago are at a standstill today and more than 100,000 workmen are idle as a result of a lockout ordered by the executive committee of the building construction employers association of Chicago.

Yesterday the organization, which includes in its membership every building contractor in the city, issued an ultimatum declaring that unless the members of the carpenters, lathers, iron workers and other unions who have been on a strike for several weeks, returned to work by 8 o'clock this morning and agreed to abide by the provisions of their joint trade wage contracts which run until 1921, the builders would indefinitely suspend all operations.

The strikers ignored the threat and refused to return to work as requested and early in the day the executive committee of the building employers sent a letter by special messenger to every contractor with instructions to immediately stop work of every character.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Ill., July 18.—More than 100,000 men employed in Chicago building operations will be idle by tonight, unless strikes for higher pay, involving about 80,000 of their number, are called off. An ultimatum to the striking building trades that they return to work by 8 o'clock this morning was issued yesterday by the building construction employers' association.

Approximately $50,000,000 in construction work will come to a standstill
if the lockout occurs. Other operations about to be started at an estimated cost of $75,000,000 will be deferred, and the employees will sacrifice about $600,000
daily in wages during its duration.

Carpenters Ignore Order.

The 16,000 carpenters will ignore the order, D. J. Ryan, secretary of the joint arbitration board and member of the carpenters' district council, said
when the ultimatum was received.

The remainder of the men who are out either to enforce demands of their own or in sympathy with the carpenters, also will ignore the contractors' order, declared Edward N. Nockels, secretary of the Chicago federation of labor.

Violate Agreement.

The decision to declare a lockout

came as a climax to a series of strikes in the building industry and was precipitated by the walkout of the carpenters, who are charged by the employers with violating their agreement and refusing to negotiate a compromise. They are holding out for $1 an hour.

The last complete shutdown of building operations occurred here in November 1899 and lasted thirteen months.

MACHINERY VERSUS CRUDE HAND LABOR

A question that is often asked in connection with the recent war with Germany is, "How did America, in the space of months, overcome the twenty or more years' start that Germany had in the manufacture of war materials of every description?"

Those who know answer the question in three words, "By quantity production." But this answer means little to the average person who has not seen the American method of quantity production in actual operation.

The educational features starting at the Family Theatre tonight will give such people a clearer insight into how the feat was accomplished. The motor car industry, which has contributed so much to the manufacturing world in the way of straight line production methods and the elimination of lost motion and re-handling of materials, is the industry featured.

French Invented 100-Mile Cannon

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Thursday, July 17.—While giving evidence before a committee of the chamber of deputies investigating the Briey question today M. L. Bourgeois, chief engineer of the navy department, said that at the time Paris was being bombarded by German long range guns
he had designed a cannon with a range of 100 miles which could be put in position in an hour.

The gun was ready for action at the time the armistice was signed, he said.

Try to Check Smut in Illinois Wheat

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—Agriculture agents of Sangamon, Madison and Mason counties were to confer here today with Charles Adkins, Illinois director of agriculture, to devise means of checking the spread of "flag smut" and "take all" infection which are said to have appeared in growing wheat in these counties.

Director Adkins has notified Julius
H. Barnes, United States wheat director, that he regards it as unwise to quantine wheat grown in the three counties. The infection of the grain, Mr.
Adkins said, is limited, and precautionary measures already have been taken to stop it.

Federal authorities have had under consideration the quarantine of all wheat raised in the three counties and also in Indiana districts where the infection is said to have appeared.

Washington, July 18.—Czecho-Slovak

President Wilson from a stand in front

300 Vessels of Port of Hamburg to Allies

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berlin, July 18.—It is officially announced at Hamburg that 300 vessels having that city as their home port and having a total displacement of 1,162,000 cubic meters have been delivered to the entente powers. Of these 31 ships were owned by the Hamburg-American line.

Religious Bodies to Get Plenty of Wine for Church Purposes

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, July 18.—Regulations
just issued by the bureau of internal revenue afford every religious organization in the United States opportunity to obtain wine for sacramental purposes.

"We have endeavored to cut out all
"red tape,"" Deputy Commissioner Gaylord said, "and have made the regulations easy for bona fide organizations to follow."

Where sacramental wines are produced and distributed under clerical supervision, as in certain monasteries of the Roman Catholic church, the usual internal revenue tax must be paid and accurate records kept of all shipments.

Affidavit Necessary.

In case of purchase of wine from dealers not under church supervision, the bureau expressed a preference that an affidavit of the use to which the wine was to be put accompany the order, for the protection of both the seller and the purchaser. Churches not having hierarchical organizations will obtain wine on the application of the minister or duly authorized officer of the congregation.

Jewish congregations, each of which is a separate entity under no superior prelate, will obtain wine for their services on application of the rabbi. The historic mead, brewed from grapes and honey, will continue to be used in the Pass Over feast. The bureau has ruled, contrary to erroneous reports, that mead was prohibited, that the drink may be made in accordance with ancient custom in the homes of Jewish families, when intended for use in the religious festival.

FORD IS QUESTIONED REGARDING EDITORIAL IN CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Heart of Libel Suit is Reached Today When Trial is Renewed.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Mount Clemens, Mich., July 18.—The heart of Henry Ford's libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune was reached today when Attorney Elliott G. Stevenson, representing the Tribune, began to question Mr. Ford regarding the alleged libelous editorial, headed "Ford is an Anarchist," published in the Tribune June 23, 1916.

Attorneys Alfred Lucking and Alfred G. Murphy peppered the examination with objections on behalf of the plaintiff, and Mr. Lucking characterized the examination in the course of which Mr. Stevenson attempted again to get the witness to admit that he was "an ignorant idealist," as brutal and particularly distressing to so modest a man as Mr. Ford.

Court was in session nearly two hours before Mr. Ford was recalled, the time being consumed in the reading of portions of the transcript of the examination of General Erasmus Weaver, before military affairs committee of congress in 1916, and with other matters collateral to the case.

The Tribune next came for the first time directly to the heart of the suit, the Tribune editorial of June 23, 1916, which was headed "Ford is an anarchist."

"What is a headline?" asked Mr. Stevenson.

"It shows what is in the body of an article under it."

Mr. Ford yesterday testified that an anarchist is a bomb thrower, or one who overturns government. Mr. Stevenson then read the text of the editorial.

"Nothing there about bomb throwing, is there, Mr. Ford?"

"No, but the headline—"

"But you said that a headline shows what is in the body of the article, Mr. Ford."

This precipitated an argument in the course of which Attorney Murphy contended that it was the contention of the plaintiff that the headline was libelous standing by itself, for the very reason that the text of the article related nothing anarchistic of Mr. Ford.

"It seems to me, your honor," said Mr. Stevenson, "that we have a right to know what the plaintiff himself thinks—just how he thinks he has been injured."

"I hardly ever read anything but the headlines," put in Mr. Ford.

Judge Tucker took up a law book and Mr. Stevenson went on:

"You will hardly deny the charge that you are an ignorant idealist, Mr. Ford? You said so twice yesterday."

"Well, Mr. Stevenson, you can get me to say black is white," smiled the witness.

"Why, Mr. Ford, haven't I been fair with you?"

"Yes."

Mr. Lucking protested:

"This is brutal to a fine man; a modest man who hates to appear in public, who does not wish to be here. I submit that it is brutal."

"You don't think that Mr. Ford, do you?" asked Mr. Stevenson, "I'm not brutal, am I?"

Mr. Ford smiled.

"He is talking through his hat, isn't he?" continued the Tribune lawyer.

Witness smiled again, and Judge Tucker reminded that Mr. Ford could expect no different treatment from any other witness.

"But he has had different treatment so far as I am concerned," said Attorney Stevenson. "I never in my life treated a witness with so much consideration."

Mr. Ford finally stated that the record would show what he said about being an "ignorant idealist." Attorney Stevenson then called his attention to his previous testimony in which he admitted ignorance of most things about the army and navy.

COAST DEFENSE DISCUSSED

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Mount Clemens, Mich., July 18.—A statement that one-third of the record of the testimony of Henry Ford in the latter's libel suit against the Chicago Tribune has been taken up by the objection of counsel for Mr. Ford and the resultant arguments was made to Judge Tucker at the opening of court today.

Alfred Lucking, senior counsel for Mr. Ford, took an exception, remarking that the same could be said of Tribune counsel when witnesses for the plaintiff were being heard.

Before he had been asked a question he was temporarily excused and Weymouth Kirkland, Tribune lawyer took the stand and was examined by his colleague, Elliott G. Stevenson. Both lawyers held copies of the report of testimony of General Weaver on coast defense before the military affairs committee of congress in 1916. The purpose was to refute the statement made in Mr. Ford's anti-preparedness advertisement quoting General Weaver as saying that the coast defense system was adequate.

The Tribune lawyer, by following General Weaver's testimony, further than the advertisement did, showed that General Weaver said that the coast guns were models of 1890 and would be unable to return the fire of modern naval guns.

Brussels, Thursday, July 17.—(Delayed)—Out of the ruins of Belgium's steel industry which was systematically destroyed by the Germans will spring one of the biggest steel combinations in the world. Ten or twelve of the most powerful corporations whose plants were laid waste have decided to pool their interests into one immense undertaking.

Stock in the various companies is being taken care of according to the method followed in merging many American plants in the United States steel corporation.

ZEELAND—WHERE STYLES NEVER CHANGE

Washington, D. C.—Zeeland, called a "paradise of quaint costumes," where bare arms always were the fashion, and where the miss of four dresses exactly as does her mother of forty, is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The bulletin, issued in connection with the announced desire of Belgium to annex that one-third portion of Zeeland which lies south of the Scheldt river, is based on a communication of Florence Craib Albrecht, as follows:

"Zeeland is a paradise of quaint costumes. Every island, almost every town, once had its own distinctive dress and many still retain it."

"The butter market at Middelburg has a pretty setting. The wagons and chaises roll up to the two gateways in endless procession, and the fair Walcheren dames descend with much shaking of voluminous skirts and aprons, much patting of caps and adjusting of coral necklaces, to set their baskets of golden butter and nearly eggs in even rows upon the long benches within before trotting off to the inevitable shopping."

"The product of dairy and chicken-coop belongs exclusively to the farmers' wives in Zeeland. It is they who do the selling, they who spend the earnings. You may find the men at the grain market; on the corners where pigs, calves, or sheep are for sale; in the cafes about the market square smoking and drinking with their fellows, and upon the days of great cattle markets very busy indeed driving shrewd bargains."

"The butter market is ready for business about 1 o'clock. If you encounter in the through the iron gateway, now standing hospitably wide to invite buyers, you will find the front row of benches occupied around all three sides of the arcade with close-set rows of heavy baskets and the back row by the wall with a hundred or more rosy farmers' wives and daughters, dainty as the proverbial new pin, in glistening white caps, gold spirals, coral necklaces, many finger rings, and best black aprons over the second-best gown. The very best belongs to festivals and kermis."

"The gay frontpiece and the bare arms give an air of safety to the somber costume, and the upturned gold spirals at each temple are the hangings for many broad pearl-tipped pendants."

FORMER DIXON MAN MURDERER; SUICIDE

More complete reports of the tragedy, published in this noon's edition of Chicago papers state that Smith, who had accused Springmeyer of being the wrecker of his home, had shot himself at a room at 3849 Ferdinand street.

Fires at Wife.

Before shooting Springmeyer, Smith fired two shots at his wife, who was living at 658 N. LaSalle street in the basement with his enemy and former friend, Mrs. Smith's refusal to consider her husband's plea for reconciliation so that their home could be restored for the benefit of their six children was the cause of the tragic encounter.

Shortly before Smith and his wife separated last November Springmeyer met Mrs. Smith through her husband, and the triangle that ended in death began to develop. The Smiths had six children. Springmeyer was a bachelor.

Following the separation, which Mrs. Smith ascribes to her husband's cruelty, Smith went to Milwaukee, taking William, the oldest son with him.

Family Broken Up.

The oldest girl, Lorraine, got into the Juvenile Court and was taken to the House of Good Shepherd. Mamie, the other daughter, was placed in a home on the South Side.

Charles was taken to the Lincoln School for the Feeble-Minded. Johnny, the youngest, went with his mother.

Mrs. Smith subsequently moved from her apartment at 1107 Washington Blvd. after Smith had written her from Milwaukee that he was "through with her." She and Springmeyer purchased a rooming house at 658 N. LaSalle St. and lived in the basement as Mr. and Mrs. Springmeyer.

Husband Asks Forgiveness.

Months of heartache and loneliness caused Smith to repent of his decision never to see his wife again. He wrote asking for forgiveness, but received no answer. He wrote again and again, his letters combining repentance and which quite belie the demure primness of the close white cap.

"They are not so demure after all, these dainty little dames who trip so swiftly and lightly from house to house, from shop to shop, from booth to booth, in the market-place. They are mischievous and roguish, despite the somewhat puritanical air lent by their garb, and quick at repartee and banter as our friend from Cork, whom in vivacity they somewhat resemble."

"A tiny maid of four, a wee laddie unable to speak plainly, wear precisely the same costume as mother or father—full, long, black skirts, white cap, tiny gold spiral, coral beads, and aprons for one; black cloth or velvet trousers and jacket, much adorned with silver buttons, silver-buckled shoes and queer back hat for the other."

"At Ter Goes the butter market is also ruled by the ladies. It, too, is held in an enclosure and its gate opens upon the market-place. Without it the men are grouped in numbers, but within the dames reign supreme. There is no great linden to cast picturesque shadows nor to filter the sunshine, which touches a gold pendant or coral bead now and then as with living fire. There is not the same cool, green shadow to make yellower the golden butter or whither the pearly eggs; but the matrons and maids who buy and sell there are far more startling to stranger eyes than the Walcheren beauties."

"Over their bodices gay kerchiefs are folded in prescribed and curious lines, and the caps which cover their shapely heads are of lace plaited into wide-spreading wings. There is always a small close cap which fits the heads snugly, disclosing the hair only at the forehead, where it roils back in a tiny smooth puff."

"From beneath this cap just shiny gold plates like window mirrors, secured firmly in place by huge gold pins. Above this is worn the lace cap, coming down smooth and straight to the squarely across the shoulders for a Catholic woman, gathered or plaited to flare widely and coquishly for the woman whose faith is Calvinistic."

"Their fathers or husbands also mark belief by head-dress. The Protestant wears his heaver hat with brim rolled up the entire round; the Catholic turns his down in front to form a visor."

regret with denunciation of his wife for failure to do as she should have done by the children.

He went to Chicago last night, armed and went to the rooming house.

He was told by Henry Summerfield, a roomer, that "Mr. and Mrs. Springmeyer" were not at home. As the two stood engaged in conversation, Springmeyer and Mrs. Smith came up the steps.

Smith broke out in bitter denunciation. He called Springmeyer a "false friend," "yellow dog" and "despoiler of a happy home."

Slain In Basement.

Springmeyer and Mrs. Smith retreated into the basement and Smith drew his revolver. He fired twice at his wife, but missed. Springmeyer leaped at him. The first bullet pierced his left hand, the second his heart.

He died on the way to a hospital. Smith fled and the woman was taken, dry eyed and wondering, to the Chicago avenue station. The police provided a meal for the woman's child when he came home from a movie show.

The Lobster.

Unlike most other marine animals, the lobster is not truly migratory in its habits. It remains on about the same ground, it is believed, from year to year, coming into shallower water in spring and returning to the less accessible depths in autumn.

The Romaika.

The Romaika is a modern Greek dance, dignified in character, and although not as popular as other forms of the Terpsichorean art, is much affected by certain sections of the populace.

LIMBURG—NOTED FOR A CHEESE AND A SIEGE

Washington, D. C.—"Dutch" Limburg, that portion of ancient Limburg which Belgium seeks to have Holland restore to her because it will enable her to fortify her frontiers more strongly, is described in the following bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

"That portion of Limburg now ruled by Holland, lies east of the Meuse, is smaller than Rhode Island in area, and has a population slightly less than that of Detroit, Mich."

"Limburg's cheese is famous, though its significant history is almost forgotten. Its name, applying to a considerable area, dates back to the eleventh century and was derived from a castle built along the Vesdre River on the site of the present town of Limburg."

"For two centuries thereafter the history of Limburg was one of tedious disputes until it suddenly was illumined by the exploits of John of Brabant whose brilliant battles against superior forces resulted in the union of Limburg and Brabant. Thus Limburg became the beneficiary of that Magna Carta of the continent, known as the 'Joyous Entry,' granted by John III, Duke of Brabant. The document established a miniature league of nations among the feudal states, pledging the rulers of Brabant to respect territorial integrity and to a referendum of taxes, wars and treaties to their subjects."

"For a time Limburg was annexed to France; portions of it then fell to Luxembourg and thus passed into the German confederation. That section of the original Limburg now in controversy was incorporated in Holland by the London conference at the close of our Civil War. After the Belgian revolution, 2 years earlier, its chief city and present capital, Maastricht, adhered to Holland. The rest of Limburg, including the area which now is a province of Belgium, sent its legislators to the Brussels assembly throughout the period of nearly a decade when Holland refused to recognize the independence of Belgium."

"Maastricht's most conspicuous exploit was its four months' resistance of the siege of the terrible Duke of Parma. With a small garrison as a nucleus, citizens and peasants from the vicinity resisted a veteran army of about equal numbers. Parma had miners tunnel under the walls. A woman's regiment' from the city scalded hundreds to death with showers of boiling water. Meanwhile men employed bellows from church organ to blow burning brush into the subterranean trenches. Then the women, nicknamed 'mine mistresses', hurled blazing torches of pitch upon the enemy at the city's gates."

"When, after a terrible siege, the defense crumbled the citizens threw up inner fortifications. They held out until, attacked as they slept from exhaustion one night, a concerted attack by overwhelming numbers invaded their last stronghold. Red hot sand and boiling water deluged them from their own roof tops. Even the aged women and the children were butchered. About 8000 perished, and the city was plundered."

Concerning the cheese that made Limburg famous, the bulletin quotes a communication from William Wisner Chapin as follows:

"Limburg is sometimes called the Garden of Holland. Of the celebrated relish known as Limburger cheese it has long been a query how an article of food made from delicious material and considered such a delicacy can possess so obnoxious an odor and still retain its self respect. This peculiarity has made Limburger cheese responsible for many amusing incidents."

"A Dutch-American rural citizen once went to town to make some purchases, among which was some of the odoriferous commodity. For convenience, he placed it in a long box in the wagon, behind the seat. Happening to stop on the road, an inquisitive acquaintance approached and asked what the box contained."

"In answer he raised the lid and replied, 'I have my grandmother.'"

"Well," rejoined the inquirer, as he caught a whiff of the contents, 'She's not in a trance.'"

MRS. THEO. FARVER, FRANKLIN GR., DEAD

The death of Mrs. Theodore Farver, for nearly fifty years a resident of Franklin Grove, occurred last night at her home there. Death was due to heart trouble from which she had long suffered. She was about seventy-five years of age. She leaves six children to mourn her loss, Berton and Calvert, of Balaia, Ill.; Harry, of Fairchild, Wis.; Boyd, of Ashton; Mrs. Emma Evans, of State Center, Ia.; and Mrs. Mary Comstock, of Balaia. Her husband preceded her in death about a year ago. For forty years she was a member of the Franklin Grove Methodist church. No arrangements have been made as yet for the funeral.

Activities in Amboy

W. A. WEBBER BOUGHT M'COY-KEEFER BLDG.

The McCoy & Kiefer saloon building on Main street, one of the oldest frame buildings in the town of Amboy, has been sold to W. A. Webber, of Compton. The building is to be vacated very soon and rearranged for another purpose. No announcement as to the plans for the future of the building have been made, but it is rumored that a restaurant or hotel may be built on the site, which is one of the best in the business section of the town.

One rumor, which gained considerable circulation was to the effect that the Amboy State bank contemplated building on the site and changing the location of their institution. Ralph Ruckman, vice president of the bank, however, classes this rumor as being unfounded.

REALTY COMPANY TO OPEN 2ND ADDITION

The Realty Development & Sales Co., who early this spring opened a new residence tract north of Amboy, have announced that the Homesite addition will open for the sale of lots on July 26. The site has been platted out into spacious building lots and trees and shrubbery have been planted. A large force of men are now engaged in laying the cement sidewalks and the streets are to be paved with concrete this summer.

DR. POOL PURCHASES CHAMBERLAIN LOT

Dr. C. G. Pool, of Compton, has become interested in Amboy's thrift and this week purchased the lot belonging to Mrs. Effie Chamberlain on Provoct street. Contracts have already been let for the erection of a modern apartment building, the excavation for which has been started and is well under way. The building when completed will consist of four apartments with the most modern equipment.

Dr. Pool also purchased the old Richmond & Townsend creamery building at Shaw station. This structure is to be torn down and much of the lumber will be used in the erection of the new apartment building in Amboy.

JAMISON SELLS RESIDENCE.

R. W. Jamison, Amboy insurance agent, has disposed of his residence property to Mrs. Fred Biggart, of Brooklyn township, who will move to Amboy about the first of October. Mr. Jamison expects to spend much of his time in Florida this winter attending to crops on his farms, but will continue to make his home in Amboy. R. W. Ruckman will conduct the insurance business during his absence.

NEGRO LABORERS QUIT.

The gang of about 100 negro laborers, who have been working on the tracks and in the Illinois Central yards, has been sadly depleted in the last few days. Several of the men have quit and left Amboy to look for other work. Dissatisfaction over hours and wages is said to have been the cause of their quitting.

TO TELL OF CENTENARY.

Rev. Joseph Burrows has returned to his home in Amboy from Columbus, O., where he attended the Methodist Centenary. His sermons on next Sunday at the Methodist church will be based on his observations at this great meeting.

EARL CRAMPTON CALLED.

Mrs. Jennie Crampton last night received a very brief message notifying her of the death of her son, Earl Crampton at Flint, Mich. The message did not contain any detailed information. The body will doubtless be sent to Amboy for interment.

COUNTY AGENT IS HOME.

County Advisor L. S. Griffith returned home this morning from Urbana where he spent three days at the state college of agriculture and at the state farm.

FROM MOTOR TRIP.

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Ziegler and son, Sheldon, and Francis Jacobs have returned to Amboy after a ten day automobile trip through eastern Illinois and Indiana.

Marine Strike May Affect Other Trades

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, July 18.—The strike of seamen, firemen and oilers, which has resulted in holding several hundred ships at their pier here and caused steamship and railroad terminals to become piled high with freight, entered its second week today. Thousands of marine workers have been thrown out of employment and unless a quick settlement is brought about still other trades connected with shipping will be affected.

At this port about 400 vessels remain idle and at Boston, Philadelphia, New Orleans and other Atlantic and gulf ports the number of ships tied up is estimated at more than 100. Many of these are United States shipping board vessels that have been leased to private corporations.

Maternity in Care of German States

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Thursday, July 17.—(Delayed)—A wireless dispatch received here says the Weimer assembly has adopted a bill placing maternity under the care of the state. A proposal by the independents that the mother of an illegitimate child should officially be designated as "frau" was carried by a vote of 135 to 133.

It was also decided by the assembly that the same educational and social opportunities should be provided by legislation for illegitimate as legitimate children. Likewise it was decided that large families were entitled to state assistance.

Illness of Former Kaiser is Serious

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berlin, July 18.—The pan-German Deutsche Zeitung, which stands close to former royal circles, takes a serious view of the illness of former Emperor William, calling it "deep melancholy." It is said that the one time monarch is so depressed that his physician views his conditions as critical.

Count Hohenzollern is said to rarely leave his apartment and seldom sees his closest friends. The paper says that he spends many hours in prayer and that when he does talk he wants to converse on religious subjects. The former emperor is said to show a "high degree of nervousness."

The condition of the former empress is such, according to the newspaper, that she may have to return to Germany for treatment of her old heart trouble.

New British Loan is Not a Great Success

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, July 18.—The Victory loan campaign is disappointing, in the opinion of several morning newspapers. Others, however, accept the statement of J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, that "in view of the circumstances the result is very satisfactory."

The Laborite Herald insists that the country's finances must be rehabilitated through a levy on capital. The Daily News does not take an optimistic view of the situation but says: "If the disappointing result of the victory loan persuades the government that the stage of easy borrowing is over and that the financial demand for the future will in some way have to be met out of income and capital and not by mortgaging posterity it will not be too dearly bought."

Will Resume Debate on Dry Bill Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Although the agricultural appropriation bill had right of way, house leaders expected late today to resume debate on the prohibition enforcement legislation. The debate now centers on the section of the bill carrying provisions for enforcing constitutional prohibition which becomes effective next January.

All amendments intended to eliminate the more drastic prohibitions to the general enforcement measure were voted down yesterday by overwhelming majorities and so strongly in control were the "drys" that debate was shut off despite the violent protests of the minority.

to be oiled, to which the commissioner answered, "I told you I couldn't use any of the funds in my department for that purpose."

"You were told," charged the Mayor, "That you didn't have to use your funds, that it would be paid for out of the street-oiling fund."

The debate waxed warm between these two, until finally the Mayor opened: "We're supposed to be one family here, to consult and act together, but you take the position that you won't have anything to do with this street-oiling."

"I haven't taken any such position" was the reply. "I've merely told you that the street-oiling is not in my department."

"Whose department is it in, then?" demanded Mr. Smith.

"It's in no one's department. All you have to do is to read the ordinance, to know what my duties are, and you'll find I'm leaving nothing undone."

"Well, I'm certainly glad we haven't any more lawyers on this commission," exclaimed the executive, to which Mr. Armstrong made answer that the "lawyers are gentlemen."

"They are no more gentlemen than some others," said Mr. Smith. "But you're so technical. You seem to have an idea that if you had not been here the rest of us would have gotten into the penitentiary."

After all of which it was necessary to vote on the motions for borrowing the money from the contingent fund, to buy the oiler and to reimburse the contingent fund later—which motions had been prepared by Commissioners Palmer and Campbell—and the debate ended, a draw. The propositions to transfer the money from the contingent fund and to buy the oiler were passed unanimously, but Commissioner Armstrong voted against the motion to reimburse the contingent fund from the street-oiling fund.

How Much Interest?

During the session a proposition to borrow the cost of the sweeper from the banks was suggested, and the question of what interests would be charged was brought up. Commissioner Palmer said, he had borrowed from the banks for school funds and had only been charged 6 per cent, while it was reported the banks would charge the city 7 per cent. Which resulted in the opinion that if the use of the city's money by the bank in which it was placed wasn't worth giving the city the same rate of interest it did the school district "it might be well to move that money."

says Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital. Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health today were it not for the deadly drug, Nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed and lo, the pernicious habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read the large and interesting announcement by Doctor Connor soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning and how to avoid it. BEARISH TONE IN CORN AS RESULT BETTER WEATHER

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, July 18.—Bearish sentiment predominated in the corn market today owing largely to favorable weather conditions. The break in foreign exchange and the resulting check on export demand for foodstuffs tended also to weaken values. Besides, domestic labor troubles received widespread notice. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1/2 to 1 1/2c lower, with Sept. 1.92 1/2 to 1.93 1/2 and Dec. 1.61 1/2 to 1.62, were followed by decided further setbacks.

Enlarged crop estimates which were current did a good deal to put oats on the down grade. After opening 1/4 to 1 1/2c lower, including Sept. at 78 1/2 to 79 1/2, the market continued to descend.

Provisions were weaker and lower with grain and hogs. Labor difficulties at the stock yards here had a further depressing effect. Subsequently, attention focussed to a greater extent on economic conditions, and there was persistent selling by holders. After severe breaks, however, commission house buying set in, and the market rallied somewhat. The close was unsettled, 2 1/2c to 4 1/2c net lower, with Sept. 1.90 to 1.90 1/2 and Dec. 1.59 1/2 to 1.60 1/2.
